

Welcome to openSUSE

Something for everyone

Hello! We're the international openSUSE Community —friendly, welcoming and active in creating the premier Linux for the future.

What We Do

We develop a state-of-the-art Linux distribution as well as many tools around it. We believe in the freedom to create technology that will better ourselves and the world. And in having fun while doing it. It's why everything we do is free and open!

Working Together

We work extensively with the wider Free Software community and other Linux distributions, initiate new collaborative projects and embrace anyone who wants to build upon our technology.

Helping You Out

Whether you're a new user looking for help, or an experienced developer looking to cross-compile and distribute software, openSUSE provides the tools and support you need.

Meet us at openSUSE.org

For users

With openSUSE you easily design graphics, create documents and videos or surf the Net. Hundreds of applications are included and thousands more up to date tools are a click away. It's a desktop ready for the most demanding user: anytime, anywhere, anyway

For administrators

openSUSE fulfills all your networking, management and maintenance needs for the home or small enterprise. Create a mail, web or file server. Manage user accounts. Deploy virtual machines or a firewall perimeter. Thanks to YaST, the most comprehensive and powerful admin tool in the industry, you manage your environment with surprising ease.

For Developers

With unparalleled stability, flexibility and up to date versions of all the relevant tool chains and libraries, there is no better Linux for software development.
